Title of Thesis	CROSSCURRENTS OF INDIAN HISTORY AND CULTURE: A STUDY OF MANOHAR MALGONKAR S SELECTED NOVELS
Date of Registration	24-08-2020
Date of Award	19-03-2026
Regulations	Regular UGC (M.Phil./Ph.D.) Regulations 2016
Salient features of Thesis	This doctoral research examines the debates surrounding Indian historical perspectives from the period preceding independence to the post independence era. It explores themes such as colonial consciousness, socio-political conflicts, cultural clashes, human relationships, and depiction of women in the selected works of Manohar Malgonkar. The study encapsulates the polemics of history and politics in Manohar Malgonkar's novels, focusing on five significant works. These five novels collectively depict India's socio-political history, encapsulating the time before and after independence.
